Form for Acquisition

Forms for acquisition ensure the correct authorisations are in place prior to acquiring bulk data, where these authorisations have not been obtained under interception warrant (RIPA) or property warrant (ISA). For the purposes of the form for acquisition, bulk data is defined as "...any material that links an identifiable individual with information that, if released, would put them at significant risk of harm or distress or alternatively any source of information relating to 1000 or more individuals that is not in the public domain, even if the information about an individual is not considered likely to cause harm or distress".¹ Forms for acquisition may also be required for smaller and/or sensitive data sets.
