Dear Ms. Scarlet:

This is an initial response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request dated 13 December 2016, which was received by this office on 13 December 2016, for "records relating to the British-United States Communication Intelligence Agreement(now known as the 'UKUSA Agreement')." A copy of your request is enclosed. This letter acknowledges that we have received your request and provides some administrative information. Your request has been assigned Case Number 100386. Due to a significant increase in the number of requests being received by this Agency, we are experiencing delays in processing. We will begin to process your request and will respond to you again as soon as we are able. Until further processing is done, we do not know if there will be assessable fees. Therefore, we have not addressed your request for a fee waiver at this time.

Correspondence related to your request should include the case number assigned to your request, which is included in the first paragraph of this letter. Your letter should be addressed to National Security Agency, FOIA Office (P132), 9800 Savage Road STE 6932, Ft. George G. Meade, MD 20755-6932 or may be sent by facsimile to 443-479-3612. RE: FOIA APPEAL, Case: 100386

Dear FOIA Officer,

We are writing on behalf of our client, Privacy International. On December 13, 2016, Scarlet Kim, Legal Officer at Privacy International, submitted a request under the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552, seeking records related to the British-United States Communication Intelligence Agreement ("UKUSA Agreement"). A copy of that request is enclosed.

On December 27, 2016, an NSA FOIA Customer Representative sent a letter to Ms. Kim in response, explaining that "delays in processing" prevented the NSA from responding to her request. As you know, FOIA requires NSA to make a determination regarding whether to comply with Ms. Kim's request within 20 days of its receipt. Because this deadline has lapsed, we are writing to appeal the NSA's constructive denial of Ms. Kim's request. We look forward to the NSA's response to this appeal within 20 days. 5 U.S.C. 552 (a)(6)(A)(ii).

Sincerely,

Re: Request Under Freedom of Information Act

To whom it may concern,

Privacy International ("PI") submits this request under the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552, for access to records relating to the British-United States Communication Intelligence Agreement (now known as the "UKUSA Agreement"). Specifically, we request the following records¹:

1. Any records governing, amending, extending or appended to the UKUSA Agreement.
2. Any records relating to the implementation of the UKUSA Agreement by the United States government, including, but not limited to:
 - a. Regulations, policies, memoranda, legal opinions, strategy documents, directives, definitions, and technical manuals or specifications;
 - b. Records pertaining to planning, technical and other relevant conferences, including, but not limited to, minutes, reports and recommendations.
3. Any records construing or interpreting the authority of the National Security Agency ("NSA") pursuant to the UKUSA Agreement; any regulations, policies or other implementing documents issued thereunder; or any other relevant authorities pertaining to the UKUSA Agreement.

¹ Records include, but are not limited to, letters, reports, memoranda, legal opinions, policy statements, notes, technical manuals, technical specifications, tape recordings, electronic records (including email, data, and computer source and object code), and any other materials.

4. Any records describing the standards that must be satisfied for the “exchange” of “products” of “operations relating to foreign communications,” as the NSA defines these terms, pursuant to the NSA’s authority under the UKUSA Agreement; any regulations, policies or other implementing documents issued thereunder; or any other relevant authorities governing the “exchange” of intelligence “products” under the UKUSA Agreement.²
5. Any records describing the minimization procedures used by the NSA with regard to the “exchange” of “products” of “operations relating to foreign communications,” as the NSA defines these terms, pursuant to the NSA’s authority under the UKUSA Agreement; any regulations, policies or other implementing documents issued thereunder; or any other relevant authorities governing the “exchange” of intelligence “products” under the UKUSA Agreement.³
6. Any other records governing the exchange of intelligence between the United States government and the governments of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and/or New Zealand.

Request for a Public Interest Fee Waiver

PI requests a waiver of search, review and duplication fees on the ground that disclosure of the requested records is in the public interest because it: (1) “is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government,” and (2) “is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii). This request clearly satisfies both criteria.

First, the requested records concern “the operations or activities of the government.” The 1955 version of the UKUSA Agreement provides that “[t]he agreement governs the relations” between the United States and the United Kingdom “in communications intelligence.”⁴ UKUSA Agreement, § 2. It further provides that:

² The 1955 version of the UKUSA Agreement, which is the most recent publicly available version of the agreement and was declassified by the NSA in 2010, lists the following “products”: “collection of traffic,” “acquisition of communications documents and equipment,” “traffic analysis,” “cryptanalysis,” “decryption and translation,” and “acquisition of information regarding communications organizations, procedures, practices and equipment.” U.K.-U.S. Communications Intelligence Agreement (UKUSA Agreement), May 10, 1955, § 4(a), available at https://www.nsa.gov/news-features/declassified-documents/ukusa/assets/files/new_ukusa_agree_10may55.pdf [hereinafter UKUSA Agreement]. PI requests any records describing the standards that must be satisfied for the “exchange” of “products” including, but not limited to, those contained in the preceding list.

The parties agree to the exchange of the products of the following operations relating to foreign communications:-

- (1) Collection of traffic.
- (2) Acquisition of communications documents and equipment.
- (3) Traffic analysis.
- (4) Cryptanalysis.
- (5) Decryption and translation.
- (6) Acquisition of information regarding communications organizations, procedures, practices and equipment.

Id. at § 4(a). The UKUSA Agreement therefore documents the United States government’s agreement with the British (as well as Canadian, Australian and New Zealand) governments to exchange intelligence.

The requested records will also “contribute significantly to the public understanding of the operations or activities of the government.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii). The government’s surveillance powers, capabilities, and activities, including as they pertain to foreign intelligence, are matters of great public interest and concern. Very little information on the government’s agreement to exchange intelligence with the British, Canadian, Australian, and New Zealand governments, including the legal basis and scope of that power, currently exists in the public domain. A clearer understanding of this agreement and whether it appropriately accommodates the constitutional rights of American citizens and residents whose communications and/or data are implicated in the course of that exchange, matter significantly to the public.

Second, PI does not have a commercial interest in the disclosure of the requested records. PI is a registered charity in the United Kingdom that seeks to advance the right to privacy throughout the world. Dissemination of information about government activities, particularly with respect to surveillance, is a critical and substantial component of PI’s mission and work. PI does not seek to commercially benefit from these activities. Any information obtained through this request will be disseminated to the public at no cost for the purpose of educating the public and promoting the protection of civil liberties and human rights.

⁴ Appendix J to the 1955 version of the UKUSA Agreement further provides that “Canada, Australia and New Zealand will be regarded as UKUSA-collaborating Commonwealth countries.” Principles of UKUSA Collaboration with Commonwealth Countries other than the U.K., Appendix J, UKUSA Agreement.

Request for a Waiver of Search and Review Fees

In the alternative, PI requests a waiver of search and review fees on the ground that the requested records are not sought for commercial use and because PI is a "representative of the news media." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II). As discussed above, PI does not seek the requested records for commercial use.

PI further qualifies as a representative of the news media because it "gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii); see also Nat'l Sec. Archive v. Dep't of Def., 880 F.2d 1381, 1387 (D.C. Cir. 1989). PI conducts research on a variety of issues related to privacy and surveillance. It then publishes its research in a variety of formats, including research reports,⁵ policy papers,⁶ and frequent blog posts.⁷ This information is freely available via PI's website.

For the reasons above, we respectfully request that all fees related to the search, review, and duplication of the requested records be waived. If these fees will not be waived, we ask that you contact us at the email address listed below should the estimated fees resulting from this request exceed $100.

We request that responsive electronic records be provided electronically in their native file format, if possible. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(3)(B). Alternatively, we request that the records be provided electronically in text-searchable PDF, in the best image quality in the NSA's possession, and in separate, Bates-stamped files.

We further request that you provide an estimated date on which you will finish processing this request. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(7)(B).

If this FOIA request is denied in whole or in part, please provide the reasons for the denial, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(A)(i). In addition, please release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material in accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 552(b). Furthermore, if any documents responsive to this request are classified, please identify those documents, including a date and document number where possible, so we may begin the process of

Dear Ms. Kim:

This responds to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request of 13 December 2016, which was received by this office on 13 December 2016, for "Access to records relating to the British-United States Communication Intelligence Agreement (now known as the "UKUSA Agreement")." Your request has been processed under the provisions of the FOIA. There are no assessable fees for this request.

Regarding the portion of your request for information on the "UKUSA Agreement," many documents pertaining to the agreement dated 1940-1956 were released in 2010 and are available at the NSA.gov website. The remaining documents responsive to this portion of your request have been found to be currently and properly classified in accordance with Executive Order 13526. These documents meet the criteria for classification as set forth in Subparagraphs (b), (c), and (d) of Section 1.4 and remain TOP SECRET and SECRET as provided in Section 1.2 of Executive Order 13526. The documents are classified because their disclosure could reasonably be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security. Some of the information is exempt from automatic declassification in accordance with Section 3.3(b)(6) of E.O. 13526. Because the documents are currently and properly classified, they are exempt from disclosure pursuant to the first exemption of the FOIA (5 U.S.C. Section 552(b)(1)).

In addition, this Agency is authorized by various statutes to protect certain information concerning its activities. We have determined that such information exists in these documents. Accordingly, those portions this FOIA request are exempt from disclosure pursuant to the third exemption of the FOIA, which provides for the withholding of information specifically protected from disclosure by statute. The specific statutes applicable in this case are Title 18 U.S. Code 798; Title 50 U.S. Code 3024(i); and Section 6, Public Law 86-36 (50 U.S. Code 3605). No portion of the information is reasonably segregable.

Any records describing the minimization procedures used by the NSA with regard to the "exchange" of "products" of "operations relating to foreign communications," as the NSA defines these terms, pursuant to the NSA's authority under the UKUSA Agreement; any regulations, policies or other implementing documents issued thereunder; or any other relevant authorities governing the "exchange" of intelligence "products" under the UKUSA Agreement.²
6. Any other records governing the exchange of intelligence between the United States government and the governments of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and/or New Zealand.

In a letter dated December 27, 2016, a true and correct copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B, an NSA FOIA customer representative asserted that "delays in processing" prevented the NSA from responding to the request within the time required by FOIA.

When the NSA failed to make the required determination regarding whether to comply with Privacy International's request within the 20-day deadline, Privacy International, through counsel, sent a second letter, dated February 24, 2017, to the NSA. The letter, a true and correct copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit C, appealed the NSA's constructive denial of Privacy International's FOIA request.

By letter dated April 24, 2017, John R. Chapman, Chief of the FOIA/PA Office, responded to Privacy International's FOIA request. A true and correct copy of that letter is attached hereto as Exhibit D. Chapman stated that, while documents pertaining to the UKUSA Agreement dated 1940-1956 were released in 2010 and publicly available, all the remaining records responsive to the FOIA request were exempt from disclosure pursuant to Exemption 1 and Exemption 3, relying for the latter on three particular withholding statutes, 18 U.S.C. § 798, 50 U.S.C. § 3024(i) and Pub. L. No. 86-36 § 6 (50 U.S.C. § 3605). Chapman additionally stated that no portion of the information was reasonably segregable. The letter further advised Privacy International and counsel of the NSA's appeal procedures.

² Minimization procedures include, but are not limited to, regulations, policies, procedures or rules addressing the acquisition, processing, retention, dissemination, and destruction of information relating to United States persons that is acquired during the course of intelligence activities.

This letter therefore timely appeals the NSA's decision to withhold the requested documents. FOIA enacts into law a strong policy favoring disclosure of agency records. Records may be withheld only if the agency can demonstrate that certain records, or portions thereof, come within one or more narrowly-construed exemptions. See Mead Data Cent., Inc. v. U.S. Dep't of Air Force, 566 F.2d 242, 259 (D.C. Cir. 1977) ("The exemptions from the mandatory disclosure requirement of the FOIA are both narrowly drafted and narrowly construed in order to counterbalance the self-protective instincts of the bureaucracy which, like any organization, would prefer to operate under the relatively comforting gaze of only its own members rather than the more revealing 'sunlight' of public scrutiny.").

Under FOIA, an agency may withhold information only if it "reasonably foresees that disclosure would harm an interest" protected by one of the statute's enumerated exemptions. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(8)(A). Here, the NSA made generic assertions that an unspecified number of documents, all of which it utterly failed to describe, are classified and therefore can be withheld. The NSA's conclusory assertion that all records responsive to the FOIA request are exempt from disclosure because they are properly classified is unjustified. Mere assertions that documents are exempt from disclosure cannot justify withholding them under FOIA. Indeed, under Vaughn v. Rosen, "courts will simply no longer accept conclusory and generalized allegations of exemptions...but will require a relatively detailed analysis in manageable segments." 484 F.2d 820, 827 (D.C. Cir. 1973).

At a minimum, the NSA must identify how many responsive documents it has located, describe those documents and articulate with specificity the basis for withholding them pursuant to the claimed exemptions. Moreover, the NSA's denial provides virtually no detail concerning the classification authority, the classification level, or the expected declassification date of a single record that would suggest that the information is "properly classified," as required by FOIA. Nor has it offered any information whatsoever about the basis for concluding that release of the requested records creates a potential harm to national security. Without any information regarding the type of information and number of records that have been withheld from disclosure, it is virtually impossible to challenge the denial of the FOIA request through this appeal.

The NSA has similarly failed to justify its invocation of the various withholding statutes it relies on under Exemption 3. For instance, while some information might be properly withheld under 50 U.S.C. § 3024(i) if it constitutes "intelligence sources and methods," the NSA has provided no description or other explanation of the withheld records that indicates that disclosure would, in fact, reveal such information. Likewise, 18 U.S.C. § 798 criminalizes the disclosure of any classified information "concerning the nature, preparation, or use of any code, cipher or cryptographic system of the United States," and Pub. L. No. 86-36 § 6 (50 U.S.C. § 3605) does not require the NSA to disclose "any information with respect to...the names, titles, salaries, or number of the persons employed." Again, the NSA has failed to provide any description or explanation of the responsive records that would tend to demonstrate that disclosure would reveal such information. Nor does the NSA's determination provide sufficient detail to explain how the statutes it relies upon to justify withholding actually apply to the requested materials.

Furthermore, the NSA has not complied with its statutory duty to segregate and disclose non-exempt portions of the requested records. Even assuming that the requested records are exempt in part, portions of them likely contain information that has already been made available to the public or disclosure of which would not create any risk to national security. An agency "may not sweep a document under a general allegation of exemption, even if that general allegation is correct with regard to part of the information. It is quite possible that part of a document should be kept secret while part should be disclosed." Vaughn, 484 F.2d at 826. The NSA's failure to specify in detail which portions of the documents requested are disclosable and which portions are allegedly exempt violates FOIA.

Because the NSA failed to adequately justify withholding the requested documents, Privacy International appeals from the agency's determination that not a single portion of any record can be released pursuant to the FOIA request. We hereby request that the NSA reconsider its blanket denial of Privacy International's request, identify how many responsive documents it has located, and describe those documents and the basis for withholding them as required under Vaughn, 484 F.2d at 827. In accordance with FOIA, we expect a response within 20 working days. Please send any correspondence to the address indicated below.

Very truly yours,

Re: Request Under Freedom of Information Act

To whom it may concern,

Privacy International ("PI") submits this request under the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552, for access to records relating to the British-United States Communication Intelligence Agreement (now known as the "UKUSA Agreement"). Specifically, we request the following records¹:

1. Any records governing, amending, extending or appended to the UKUSA Agreement.
2. Any records relating to the implementation of the UKUSA Agreement by the United States government, including, but not limited to:
 - a. Regulations, policies, memoranda, legal opinions, strategy documents, directives, definitions, and technical manuals or specifications;
 - b. Records pertaining to planning, technical and other relevant conferences, including, but not limited to, minutes, reports and recommendations.
3. Any records construing or interpreting the authority of the National Security Agency ("NSA") pursuant to the UKUSA Agreement; any regulations, policies or other implementing documents issued thereunder; or any other relevant authorities pertaining to the UKUSA Agreement.

¹ Records include, but are not limited to, letters, reports, memoranda, legal opinions, policy statements, notes, technical manuals, technical specifications, tape recordings, electronic records (including email, data, and computer source and object code), and any other materials.

4. Any records describing the standards that must be satisfied for the “exchange” of “products” of “operations relating to foreign communications,” as the NSA defines these terms, pursuant to the NSA’s authority under the UKUSA Agreement; any regulations, policies or other implementing documents issued thereunder; or any other relevant authorities governing the “exchange” of intelligence “products” under the UKUSA Agreement.²
5. Any records describing the minimization procedures used by the NSA with regard to the “exchange” of “products” of “operations relating to foreign communications,” as the NSA defines these terms, pursuant to the NSA’s authority under the UKUSA Agreement; any regulations, policies or other implementing documents issued thereunder; or any other relevant authorities governing the “exchange” of intelligence “products” under the UKUSA Agreement.³
6. Any other records governing the exchange of intelligence between the United States government and the governments of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and/or New Zealand.

Request for a Public Interest Fee Waiver

PI requests a waiver of search, review and duplication fees on the ground that disclosure of the requested records is in the public interest because it: (1) “is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government,” and (2) “is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii). This request clearly satisfies both criteria.

First, the requested records concern “the operations or activities of the government.” The 1955 version of the UKUSA Agreement provides that “[t]he agreement governs the relations” between the United States and the United Kingdom “in communications intelligence.”⁴ UKUSA Agreement, § 2. It further provides that:

² The 1955 version of the UKUSA Agreement, which is the most recent publicly available version of the agreement and was declassified by the NSA in 2010, lists the following “products”: “collection of traffic,” “acquisition of communications documents and equipment,” “traffic analysis,” “cryptanalysis,” “decryption and translation,” and “acquisition of information regarding communications organizations, procedures, practices and equipment.” U.K.-U.S. Communications Intelligence Agreement (UKUSA Agreement), May 10, 1955, § 4(a), available at https://www.nsa.gov/news-features/declassified-documents/ukusa/assets/files/new_ukusa_agree_10may55.pdf [hereinafter UKUSA Agreement]. PI requests any records describing the standards that must be satisfied for the “exchange” of “products” including, but not limited to, those contained in the preceding list.

The parties agree to the exchange of the products of the following operations relating to foreign communications:-

- (1) Collection of traffic.
- (2) Acquisition of communications documents and equipment.
- (3) Traffic analysis.
- (4) Cryptanalysis.
- (5) Decryption and translation.
- (6) Acquisition of information regarding communications organizations, procedures, practices and equipment.

Id. at § 4(a). The UKUSA Agreement therefore documents the United States government’s agreement with the British (as well as Canadian, Australian and New Zealand) governments to exchange intelligence.

The requested records will also “contribute significantly to the public understanding of the operations or activities of the government.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii). The government’s surveillance powers, capabilities, and activities, including as they pertain to foreign intelligence, are matters of great public interest and concern. Very little information on the government’s agreement to exchange intelligence with the British, Canadian, Australian, and New Zealand governments, including the legal basis and scope of that power, currently exists in the public domain. A clearer understanding of this agreement and whether it appropriately accommodates the constitutional rights of American citizens and residents whose communications and/or data are implicated in the course of that exchange, matter significantly to the public.

Second, PI does not have a commercial interest in the disclosure of the requested records. PI is a registered charity in the United Kingdom that seeks to advance the right to privacy throughout the world. Dissemination of information about government activities, particularly with respect to surveillance, is a critical and substantial component of PI’s mission and work. PI does not seek to commercially benefit from these activities. Any information obtained through this request will be disseminated to the public at no cost for the purpose of educating the public and promoting the protection of civil liberties and human rights.

⁴ Appendix J to the 1955 version of the UKUSA Agreement further provides that “Canada, Australia and New Zealand will be regarded as UKUSA-collaborating Commonwealth countries.” Principles of UKUSA Collaboration with Commonwealth Countries other than the U.K., Appendix J, UKUSA Agreement.

Request for a Waiver of Search and Review Fees

In the alternative, PI requests a waiver of search and review fees on the ground that the requested records are not sought for commercial use and because PI is a “representative of the news media.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II). As discussed above, PI does not seek the requested records for commercial use.

PI further qualifies as a representative of the news media because it “gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii); see also Nat’l Sec. Archive v. Dep’t of Def., 880 F.2d 1381, 1387 (D.C. Cir. 1989). PI conducts research on a variety of issues related to privacy and surveillance. It then publishes its research in a variety of formats, including research reports,⁵ policy papers,⁶ and frequent blog posts.⁷ This information is freely available via PI’s website.

For the reasons above, we respectfully request that all fees related to the search, review, and duplication of the requested records be waived. If these fees will not be waived, we ask that you contact us at the email address listed below should the estimated fees resulting from this request exceed $100.

We request that responsive electronic records be provided electronically in their native file format, if possible. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(3)(B). Alternatively, we request that the records be provided electronically in text-searchable PDF, in the best image quality in the NSA’s possession, and in separate, Bates-stamped files.

We further request that you provide an estimated date on which you will finish processing this request. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(7)(B).

If this FOIA request is denied in whole or in part, please provide the reasons for the denial, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(A)(i). In addition, please release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material in accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 552(b). Furthermore, if any documents responsive to this request are classified, please identify those documents, including a date and document number where possible, so we may begin the process of

RE: FOIA APPEAL, Case: 100386

Dear FOIA Officer,

We are writing on behalf of our client, Privacy International. On December 13, 2016, Scarlet Kim, Legal Officer at Privacy International, submitted a request under the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552, seeking records related to the British-United States Communication Intelligence Agreement ("UKUSA Agreement"). A copy of that request is enclosed.

On December 27, 2016, an NSA FOIA Customer Representative sent a letter to Ms. Kim in response, explaining that "delays in processing" prevented the NSA from responding to her request. As you know, FOIA requires NSA to make a determination regarding whether to comply with Ms. Kim's request within 20 days of its receipt. Because this deadline has lapsed, we are writing to appeal the NSA's constructive denial of Ms. Kim's request. We look forward to the NSA's response to this appeal within 20 days. 5 U.S.C. 552 (a)(6)(A)(ii).

Dear Ms. Kim:

This responds to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request of 13 December 2016, which was received by this office on 13 December 2016, for "Access to records relating to the British-United States Communication Intelligence Agreement (now known as the "UKUSA Agreement")." Your request has been processed under the provisions of the FOIA. There are no assessable fees for this request.

Regarding the portion of your request for information on the "UKUSA Agreement," many documents pertaining to the agreement dated 1940-1956 were released in 2010 and are available at the NSA.gov website. The remaining documents responsive to this portion of your request have been found to be currently and properly classified in accordance with Executive Order 13526. These documents meet the criteria for classification as set forth in Subparagraphs (b), (c), and (d) of Section 1.4 and remain TOP SECRET and SECRET as provided in Section 1.2 of Executive Order 13526. The documents are classified because their disclosure could reasonably be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security. Some of the information is exempt from automatic declassification in accordance with Section 3.3(b)(6) of E.O. 13526. Because the documents are currently and properly classified, they are exempt from disclosure pursuant to the first exemption of the FOIA (5 U.S.C. Section 552(b)(1)).

In addition, this Agency is authorized by various statutes to protect certain information concerning its activities. We have determined that such information exists in these documents. Accordingly, those portions this FOIA request are exempt from disclosure pursuant to the third exemption of the FOIA, which provides for the withholding of information specifically protected from disclosure by statute. The specific statutes applicable in this case are Title 18 U.S. Code 798; Title 50 U.S. Code 3024(i); and Section 6, Public Law 86-36 (50 U.S. Code 3605). No portion of the information is reasonably segregable.

Ms. Kim,

Good afternoon. Reference is made to your December 13, 2016, Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request for access to records relating to the British-United States Communications Intelligence Agreement (UKUSA Agreement). We also received a February 24, 2017, appeal submitted by Andrew Udelsman on your behalf. We are currently in the process of conducting a search for responsive records but have been unable to locate any to date. Please note that the majority of the Department of State records which are 25 years or older and considered permanent are transferred to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) in accordance with Title 22, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 171.6. Additionally, NARA maintains other agency records and could potentially have additional information related to the UKUSA Agreement. As such, you may wish to submit a FOIA request directly to NARA. Contact information for NARA is as follows:

National Archives & Records Administration
8601 Adelphi Road, Room 311
College Park, Maryland 20740-6001

If there is something specific you are seeking regarding the UKUSA or records younger than 25 years old, please let me know. Any information you can provide will certainly help us to narrow the scope and identify records more quickly. Please feel free to contact me via email or at the number below.

Regards,
Jeanne

Dear Mr. Udelsman:

Thank you for your letter of February 24, 2017, concerning Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request number F-2016-17168, in which you note that the Department of State has not yet responded to your FOIA request.

Your FOIA request is not subject to administrative appeal at this time, since no specific material has been denied in response to the request. Section (a)(6)(C) of the FOIA provides that a requester shall be deemed to have exhausted his administrative remedies if an agency fails to respond within the applicable time limit specified in the paragraph, which is twenty days (with certain exceptions). The requester, therefore, would not be required to appeal administratively before instituting suit in federal court. This provision does not, however, provide a basis for an administrative appeal of a request that is still being processed. Moreover, the lack of a substantive response to date is not the same as a response indicating that no documents were found.

I have confirmed that your request is being processed. The Department receives thousands of FOIA and Privacy Act requests each year and yours will be processed in turn. I have sent a copy of your letter to the office that has been assigned responsibility for processing your request. Your continued patience is appreciated. If you need further assistance, you may contact the FOIA Requester Service Center at (202) 261-8484 or FOIAstatus@state.gov.

Sincerely,

Ms. Kim:

Good morning. This is in further response to your Freedom of Information Act request submitted to the Department of State. As I have not heard back from you, I wanted to confirm that you were able to get in touch with the National Archives and Records Administration before your request is administratively closed in this office. Your request will be held open for an additional twenty days pending response from you. If we do not hear from you, we will presume you are no longer interested and the request will be closed. No fees will be assessed. As always, please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Regards,
Jeanne

Subject: Re: FOIA Request F-2016-17168

Ms. Miller,

I represent Privacy International in connection with the above-referenced Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request to the Department of State.

I am writing to follow up on our phone call of May 18, 2017 regarding your email of the same date to Scarlet Kim. In that email, you notified Ms. Kim that your office was preparing to administratively close Privacy International's request. As you are aware, FOIA requires your office to make a determination regarding whether to comply with a request within 20 days of its receipt. As of this date, the Department still has not made a determination regarding the FOIA request, nor has it informed Ms. Kim (or counsel) regarding whether it has located any responsive records, whether the Department is invoking any exemptions to withhold records in whole or in part, or when it will produce those responsive records. As a result, the Department has not fulfilled its obligations under FOIA, and it is premature and inappropriate to "administratively close" the request.

As we discussed, moreover, the FOIA request is not limited to records more than 25 years old. Rather, the request encompasses any records, no matter how recent, relating to the UKUSA agreement, responsive to the enumerated categories. In this regard, it is worth noting that the UKUSA agreement may have been amended numerous times and may therefore be referred to by a title other than the "UKUSA agreement." Moreover, FOIA also requires the Department to produce any "reasonably segregable" portions of the records requested. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(b) ("Any reasonably segregable portion of a record shall be provided to any person requesting such record after deletion of the portions which are exempt under this subsection.").

Please direct further correspondence regarding this matter to me at this email address.

Very truly yours,

Hannah
