You must charge the mobile phone issued to you for a minimum of 1 hour per day and carry it with you.

You must answer calls made to you on the mobile phone that you have been issued.

ANY CHANGE OF CONDITION

You must not change your conditions without the agreement of the Secretary of State. If these conditions are to be changed, you will be notified. This notice is correct at time of service and is recorded on Home Office systems.

- Although you may have been granted immigration bail, you remain liable to be detained
- This document must not be accepted by employers as evidence of a right to work or by landlords as evidence of a right to rent (this does not apply to EEA nationals, or the family member of an EEA national, exercising an EU treaty right).
- You have NOT been given leave to enter the United Kingdom within the meaning of the Immigration Act 1971

FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH CONDITIONS

Failure to comply with any of the above conditions may lead to arrest, your conditions being varied, the requirement to pay money under any financial condition, and/or your detention.

Failure to comply with any of the above conditions, without reasonable excuse, is also a criminal offence which may be punished by a fine or a prison sentence¹.

Any unresolved application which you may have made for leave to enter may be refused.

Your details may also be placed on the Police National Computer (PNC).

Should you have difficulty in being able to comply with any of your conditions, you must immediately contact the Immigration Office as detailed at the beginning of this notice and give your reason.

IMMIGRATION BAIL AUTOMATICALLY ENDS WHEN:

- You are no longer liable to be detained and the Secretary of State is not considering whether to make a deportation order against you,
- You are granted leave to enter or remain in the United Kingdom,
- You are detained, or

- You are removed or otherwise leave the United Kingdom.
